ELECTION FAILS TO CHECK BREAK

Declining Tendency Reflects Absence of Encouraging Features in Economic Situation—Weather Favorable and Crop Ideas Larger-Liverpool Is Blue.

BY GEORGE WILLIAMSON.

Another prop has been knocked from the hopes of the bulls, and values finished the week at a modvalues thrisned the week at a mon-erate decline, while sentiment is ap-preciably more bearish. Reference is made to the failure of the national election to be followed by increase in business or stimulation of confidence as to the future. Despite the preponderance of opinion for the past month or two that victory would perch on the banner of the Repub-licans, quite an element of the public clung to the notion that when the be basis for optimism and lessening of the attitude of waiting. What happened merely furnished another instance of pre-event discounting, assuming that political uncertainty in reality was as important as given With voting finished and results even more overwhelming than the ter the position of holders of the low most extreme anticipated, leaving not grades from past crops. the semblance of doubt as to the desire for a change, came larger attention to other things. The consequence was that values receded and at the close of the period prices were at the bottom for the period and opinion leaning more to the bear side than for some time. Resist-ance was not marked and the burden was still on the South to work out its own salvation in the best possi-ble way during a period which seems to Hester, 443,000 bales, compared ble way during a period which seems pregnant with possibilities.

In New York futures closed the period at net losses of 135 to 83 points, while in New Creans they were from 125 to 100 points. In the spot department quotations were marked down 50 to 140 points, middling uplands ranging from 19.45c to as high as 20.50c at the leading centers. The range in futures for centers. The range in latures for the week approximated 200 points. December in New York selling as high as 21.75c and as low as 19.80c. The bottom was still 200 points over season's lowest, recorded several weeks ago when the Southwest seemed bent on selling its cotton as rapidly as possible and regardless

British Strike Over.

Prominent as an influence was the abor situation in Great Britain. whence came a considerable share of the pessimistic reports as to the probable demand for raw material. At first the traders assumed that the miners would accept the agreement reached by their leaders, which for time brought some support, helped y some promise that Great Britain was about to arrange for larger business with Russia. This merely afforded temporary stimulant, but it was not until after the middle of the week that fears of a hitch were dis-sipated, and then other market fac-week that rears of a litch were dissipated, and then other market factors were dominant.

Conditions in Great Britain are far from favorable, according to all the information coming to hand, and apparently the after-war depression is being felt in a most positive manner. The charge that the spinners are merely coloring advices for selfish reasons by no means suffices and ever, it is probable that the unusually mild fall season over the entire country has been a factor in deterring buyers, helped by the decreasall the population, of more declines als all the population. The expectation of more declines also enters strong-ly into the mental attitude of the public, which seems determined to go as far to the other extreme as it did when the wave of extravagant buying was at its height.

In the belt weather conditions have been excellent, and enlarged crop has made progress under ideal con-ditions and with an apparently in-creased disposition to accept lower prices has come less burrah about not picking and ginning the crop. Only a few sections have had killing frost yet and prospects are for an unusual proportion of the better grades in the crop, which will help offset the lower prices and will bet-fer the position of holders of the low

Saturday Afternoon, Nov. 6.

More declines were registered in the cotton market during the brief session, and influences were pretty much the same as they have been for several days. Advices from the belt told of limited demand for the actual and increasing pressure from holders, which increased confidence by those who were selling. Hedges were also reported as being sold more freely by the eastern helt, while spot quotations were generally lower. Anticipation of large ginning figures at the opening Monday also figured to some extent, while marked weakness in the grain and securities markets gave emphasis to the reactionary state of trade.

Weather for the past 24 hours was ideal, but there was promise on the map of unsettled conditions over the week-end and the long distance forecast promised rains early next week, with coider to follow.

At the opening prices were easy and lower, for the usual weekly trade reviews were anything but encouraging. December started at 15.40c, a drop overnight of 40 points, dipped to 19.20c and then worked up to 19.48c on short covering, but reacted later and touched 19.10c. But little improvement came before the close, indicating that nothing was in sight to give shorts uncasiness. Y. W. H. A. WILL GIVE ARMISTICE DANCE The Nineteenth Century club ball-com will be the scene of a festive coasion on the evening of Thursday, Nov. 11, when the Y. W. H. A. will entertain with an Armistice dance. Sharp Break in Wheat, Helped

by Low Foreign

LOCAL SECURITA

Quotations are undeficial being to tailed from the most reliable accuracy and according to the most reliable accuracy CHICAGO. Nov. 6.—Wheat prices broke sharply today because of general selling of all grains in small lots by commission houses. The weakness in exchange with sterling quoted under $3.40, a ne who wo not he movement, combined with the bearish construction placed on Julius H. Barnes' speech before the American Farm Buroau federation yesterday, were the main depressing influences. After starting 1 to 2½ c under yesterday's finish with December $1,95½ to 31,95 and March $1,91½ to $1,93, a further weakness set in and carried prices lower.

Cent followed wheat, but buying against bids became a factor in checking the break, most of the support being around the May delivery. After starting ½ to %c lower with December $25, to $2%c, the market railied slightly. Oats were in sympathy with other grains, opening prices being ½ to ½ c lower, with Becember $24,655%c to $52%c.

Provisions were dull and easier.

Getting Ahead

is the story of Peter Perkins and how he accumulated $10,000 in ten years by saving $25 per month. One of our investors wrote that "Getting Ahead" has made him realize that every dollar he saves he can invest with comparative safety and high yield. Another says it opened up to him the possibility of profitable investment in bonds and stocks. We will gladly send a copy of "Getting Ahead."
